American Airlines Dispute Is Settled

Service Seen Resumed By Pilots Sunday

Negotiators Working
To Put Agreement
Into Specific Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—American Airlines settled in principle Friday a wage dispute with its pilots who have been striking against it for 21 days. The prospect was that American's planes would resume flights Sunday.

Negotiators continued working Friday night with chairman Leverett Edwards of the National Mediation Board to translate the agreement into specific contract language.

Edwards said there still was a 1 in 100 chance of a hitch, but he didn't expect any. He declined to give out any settlement details. Company and union negotiators participated in Edwards' announcement.

Can Recall People

"I hope that by Saturday night the airline can begin recalling its people and possible resume operations early next week," Edwards said.

American announced in New York that it began recalling employees at once upon Edwards' announcement, and planned to resume flights Sunday morning.

The master executive committee of the Airline Pilots Assn., a 24-man group from all sections of the country, was summoned to meet here Saturday to ratify the settlement when and if completed. American's strike was the last in a series of walkouts that hampered airline passenger service for several months, including the Thanksgiving and Christmas periods.

1,500 Pilots Involved

About 1,500 pilots and copilots were involved in American's strike and some 20,000 other employees were furloughed without pay. American normally carries around 22,000 passengers daily and serves 77 cities.

Present pilot pay on American ranges from $400 to $1,600 a month. It was expected to be boosted under the new agreement to a top rate of about $2,400 a month for senior pilots on new jets.

Three Cave Explorers Found

CINCINNATI (AP) — Rescued from the cave in which they became lost in Whitley City in McCreary County, Ky., three tired amateur explorers returned to Cincinnati Friday, apparently little the worse for their experience.

The men are John Frait, 38, news director of Cincinnati Radio Station WSAI, photographer Jim Brown, 30, and Jim Jordan, 31, a free lance writer.

They entered Eureka Cave Thursday and spent almost 16 hours underground. While wandering about after becoming lost, Frait and Jordan lifted him to a dry rock shelf and again tried to find the cave entrance.

Discouraged after they got nowhere, they returned to Brown. Shortly thereafter they heard the voices of a rescue crew and shouted. A few minutes later—just after midnight Thursday—the rescue crew reached them.

Feared Drowned

WICK, Scotland (UPI) — Three British seamen were reported missing Friday when the vessel Freya capsized in the gale-whipped North Sea and sank. A Belgian trawler picked up 16 other crewmen from a rubber dinghy. Survivors said the Freya was running for shelter when it turned over and sank in 10 minutes.

Senate Slaps Down Coalition On Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate slapped down an antifilibuster coalition Friday and then agreed on procedure that could bring a final vote next week on the issue of changing its rules governing debate.

The decision to postpone any further votes until Monday at the earliest came after the Senate rejected by almost 2-1 a key maneuver by a bipartisan group of Northern and Western senators.

This move was aimed at opening the way for a tougher clampdown on endless talk—a parliamentary weapon wielded by Southern Democrats to block civil rights legislation in the past.

The day's developments heightened prospects for adoption of a compromise proposal advanced by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

But the antifilibuster forces made plans for a last-ditch fight to strengthen the Johnson proposal which they regard as inadequate.

The majority leader—backed by most Democratic and Republican chieftains in the Senate—proposes that two-thirds of the senators present and voting be empowered to cut off debate. The present rules require two-thirds of the entire Senate, or 66 of 98 members, to bring about such a clampdown.

Looking ahead to next week's action, Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), a leader of the antifilibuster group, called up an amendment to Johnson's proposal. That amendment would permit a majority of the Senate, or 50 senators, to halt extended debate.

The Douglas amendment was attacked immediately as a gag rule. Starting Monday, debate on each amendment to the Johnson proposal will be limited to two hours.

Then four hours will be allowed for debate on the proposal itself before it reaches the final action stage.

The first test of strength—possibly pointing to the future course of the battle—came when the Senate voted 60-36 to table, and thus kill, a resolution offered by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), a member of the antifilibuster bloc.

Dam Bursts On Sleeping Village, Over 300 Dead

ZAMORA, Spain (AP) — The sleeping village of Rivadellago was swept away Friday by water loosed by a bursting dam. Rescue workers said less than 200 of the 500 inhabitants were known to be alive.

By nightfall, more than 150 bodies had been counted. Many of them were clad in nightclothes, indicating they had been swept from their beds to death.

The ground drops 1,600 feet in the three miles of valley between the dam and the village, and the rampaging torrent roared through before many villagers could flee their homes.

Burdened by the waters of a month of rain, the dam broke at 12:30 a.m. with a roar heard in villages five miles away. Not until 12 hours later, when the water receded, were the first rescue teams able to enter the village.

They found devastation. They snatched word that not a house upon the village.

Two Gunmen Hold Family As Hostages

Flee After Battle;
Kidnaped Mother
Later Is Released

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Two young robbers exchanged shots with a rookie policeman, held a family hostage six hours, kidnaped the housewife briefly and escaped Friday.

They are still at large. Using the Navy uniforms and identification cards of two of their hostages, the gunmen fooled officers at a roadblock.

It began with a $105 liquor store robbery about midnight Thursday.

After the robbery, but unaware it had occurred, William C. Lovett, a 23-year-old Anaheim policeman stopped two men pushing a stalled car.

Exchange Shots

One of the men produced a gun and they exchanged shots.

The men fled on foot and forced their way into the home of Bernard Alfred Havey, 36, a block and a half away.

While 200 policemen searched door-to-door, they held the Haveys and two sailor guests — James Applebee and James Larrison—at gunpoint. The Havey's two children slept.

When police came to her door, Mrs. Lois Jane Havey, 27, was too terrified to tell them the men were there.

About 6 a.m. the bandits put on the sailors' uniforms and forced Mrs. Havey to leave with them in her car.

Present Stolen Cards

At the roadblock they presented the stolen identification cards. They said Mrs. Havey was a relative driving them back to their ship at San Diego. She was released unharmed in Santa Ana.

Officer Lovett identified a photograph of Herbert Ferzel, 20, of nearby Long Beach as that of the man who shot at him. Ferzel's car, bullet-marked in the exchange, was found abandoned, its battery dead.

Applebee and Larrison, each 20, are electrician's mates third class aboard the USS St. Paul, Larrison, of Knoxville, Tenn., is Mrs. Havey's nephew.

Hoffa Cancels Convention To Oust Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa Friday canceled plans for a special union convention to get rid of court-appointed monitors.

Hoffa said there was insufficient time to elect delegates for a scheduled March 16-18 convention in Chicago. He also noted that the union's right to hold such a convention is under attack in the courts.

Hoffa currently is waging a court battle over powers of the monitors named to supervise a cleanup of the 1,600,000-member truckers union.

Mikoyan Outlines Russian Position In Berlin Crisis

Calls For New
Allied Proposal
To Settle Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan told Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that Russia does not want to force the West out of Berlin and called for new Allied proposals to settle the crisis, high U.S. officials disclosed Friday.

The officials said the Russian leader outlined the Kremlin's position in a meeting with Dulles last Monday.

They said Mikoyan took the position that while Russia felt the time had come for the Allies to withdraw from Berlin, it was not giving them an ultimatum to do so. Instead, he urged that the United States, Britain and France draft new proposals on the situation.

Mikoyan's suggestions were made during conversations with Dulles and were not covered by an aide memoire he handed to the secretary at the outset of their 95-minute meeting, the officials said.

Confirms Memorandum

State Department spokesman Lincoln White confirmed that Mikoyan gave Dulles a memorandum "which generally reflected his oral conversation with the secretary about Berlin and Germany." But he declined to say whether Mikoyan suggested new Western proposals on the crisis during their conversation.

Mikoyan left the capital Tuesday for a tour of the Midwest and Far West. He was to return Jan. 16 and meet with President Eisenhower Jan. 19.

In his State of the Union message to Congress Friday, the President said the United States has the "solemn obligation to defend the people of free Berlin against any effort to destroy their freedom."

He charged the Russians had shown "disdain" for their treaty responsibilities by announcing that they were ready to leave the former German capital.

Officials said Mikoyan's memorandum defeated Russia's demands for unification of Berlin. It also declared that the Soviet Union would not approve German unification by means of United Nations-supervised elections.

Softening Of Line

However, officials appeared to regard Mikoyan's position as a softening of the Russian line, at least to the extent of indicating a willingness to talk about the Berlin question.

Students Size Castro's Arms

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Cuba's revolutionary movement, once firmly united in opposition to dictatorship, was menaced Friday by the pressures of victory.

Fidel Castro, given a hero's welcome to the capital, already was appealing for maintenance of unity in the tasks of reconstruction.

Seizure of arms and ammunition from Havana's San Antonio barracks Tuesday by dissident revolutionary elements was one sore point with the bearded guerrilla leader.

Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, Havana province commander, told a news conference Friday that members of the student - backed Revolutionary Directorate had made off with 457 rifles, 63 machine guns, some hand grenades and pistols, and 80,000 rounds of ammunition. Lt. Achilles China was assigned to parley with the Directorate for their return.

Pressure is believed to be coming from elements within the Revolutionary Directorate — composed principally of students — and some members of the Autentico party of ex-President Carlos Prío Socarras, himself a Castro backer.

Plane's Crew, Passengers Are All Found Dead

KINGSFORD, Tenn. (UPI) — A ground party reached the burned and twisted wreckage of a Southeast Airlines plane late Friday and confirmed that all 10 passengers and crew members perished in Thursday night's crash on Holston Mountain.

The aircraft, a twin-engine DC3 bound from Memphis to the Tri-Cities Airport near Bluff City, Tenn., slammed into the side of the 4,000 foot mountain near here during a snowstorm.

Rescue workers on the scene said the violent impact sheared trees from 200 feet and sent the plane hurtling into the mountain-side. The wreckage was covered by a light mantle of snow.

Maj. Dave Miller, chief of the search and rescue division of the 14th Air Force, said the wreckage was that of the missing airliner.

The plane was only minutes away from a safe landing at the Tri-Cities Airport. At 8:32 p.m., the pilot, Robert Gollmier, radioed that he was moving into his approach pattern and coming in for an instrument landing.

Then the radio went dead and it was believed that the airliner plunged into the side of Iron Mountain in the Holston Range moments later.

The site of the crash, blackened by either fire or the impact of the plane, was deep in the heart of the rocky and heavily-forested upper eastern section of the state, close to the borders of Virginia and North Carolina.

The exact cause of the crash was not immediately determined. It was the first crash in Southeast's two years of operation.

The crew was composed of Gollmier, pilot Robert Erwin, and stewardess Wanda Nalley, 21, who became engaged during the Christmas holidays and was scheduled to be married in June.

One of the passengers was Dr. R. L. Hasche, 62, of Johnson City, Tenn., president of the Hasche Engineering Co. The other passengers were all from the upper east Tennessee area.

Russia Planning Shoot For Stars

WARSAW (UPI) — A leading Soviet astronomer indicated Friday that Russia is considering the possibility of shooting a rocket out of our solar system toward other stars. The astronomer, Prof. Boris Kukarkin, said that a 100-pound Sputnik might be selected for a star shot. He estimated a speed of 26 miles a second would have to be attained.

Ike Cites High Cost Of Missiles, Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A salvo of block-busting statistics on the cost of bombers and missiles was dropped on Congress Friday by President Eisenhower.

In his annual State of the Union message, the President gave a prelude to his forthcoming budget message, citing examples of weapons price tags which, as he put it, make the cost of defense tremendous.

"We are buying certain bombers that cost their weight in gold," he said.

White House spokesmen said Eisenhower was referring to the Air Force's new B58 supersonic, medium jet bomber and the Navy's A3J jet attack plane for carrier-based operations. These spokesmen said the weight of the B58 is 47,000 pounds, the A3J 27,000 pounds.

Using the gold valuation of $33 a troy ounce, the costs for the two planes would come out at about $26,700,000 for the B58 and $17,600,000 for the Navy plane.

Eisenhower: The over-all cost of introducing the intercontinental ballistic missile Atlas into the armed forces will average 35 million dollars per missile on the firing line.

Here, as in the case of the bombers, the President appeared to be using the development-production cost. Air Force officials have testified that in production — after the development cost has been written off — the Atlas probably will cost between 1½ and 1¾ million per missile. Plot To Kill Castro Is Said Thwarted

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—A revolutionary unit announced Friday it thwarted a plot to kill Fidel Castro during the rebel leader's triumphal parade through Havana Thursday night.

The unit said five persons were arrested.

The ringleader, whose name was not given, was identified as a son of a former national police chief, Col. Lutgardo Martin Perez.

Then he went to the garage and turned on the engine of his car. His parents, Harold and Esther Baker, later found him slumped behind the wheel, dead of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Both Baker and Midoni were 27. Both will be buried Saturday in Pinelawn Cemetery—side by side.

Goals Are Set In State Of Union Speech

Outlines Balanced
Budget, Sensible
Posture Of Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower challenged a "yes, but" Democratic Congress Friday to join him in quest of military and economic strength for a surging America and a just peace for a fearful world.

These were the great goals set forth for the year ahead in a presidential State of the Union message. In general terms, Eisenhower outlined a formidable but "sensible posture of defense" along with a balanced budget and war against inflation.

In these days when the latest bombers "cost their weight in gold," Eisenhower said, "we can afford everything we clearly need, but we cannot afford one cent of waste."

The President appealed to the legislators to work with him to keep in balance the 77-billion-dollar budget he is sending to them Jan. 19. If this is done, he said, there is hope for tax reforms "in the foreseeable future."

A White House official interpreted this to mean tax cuts, but not before the 1961 fiscal year—beginning July 1, 1960—a period which spans the next presidential election campaign.

Purpose Unites Us

To Senate and House members assembled in the House chamber, and to Americans who heard him by radio and television, Eisenhower said: "One basic purpose unites us: to promote strength and security, side by side with liberty and opportunity."

The President drew his heaviest applause for jobs at inflation and a pledge to defend the people of Berlin "against any effort to destroy their freedom."

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise.

Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech lacked meaty details. Others were strictly uncomplimentary.

The "yes, but" reaction was strongest where it counted most—among the Democratic leaders who will have so much to say about how the presidential program fares.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas summed up: "I hope we can effect economies, but we can't do it at the expense of essential programs."

Renews His Bids

The Texan who commands Senate Democrats, Lyndon B. Johnson, promised this: "Our efforts will be not only to balance the fiscal books of the nation but to balance the books of our public trust as well."

In general terms, Eisenhower renewed bids for legislation to strengthen civil rights, correct abuses in labor unions, protect the purchasing power of the dollar, and help the farmer while trimming heavy federal spending for agriculture.

Man Acquitted In Cop's Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mitchell T. Chisholm, 24, was acquitted of negligent homicide late Friday in a traffic accident that killed a District motorcycle policeman.

A Municipal Court Jury deliberated for 55 minutes before deciding Chisholm, a resident of Frederick, Md., was not responsible for the death Nov. 13 of Pvt. Lester G. Myers, 30. Chisholm's car and Myers' motorcycle collided near 2700 Connecticut Ave., N.W., when the car was halfway through a U-turn, witnesses said.

Defense Atty. Charles E. Channing Jr., emphasized that a police photograph showed the motorcycle did extensive damage to the car's right fender. The motorcycle was southbound and the car was turning into the southbound lane.

Chisholm, a finance company representative, testified he did not see the motorcycle until just before the crash.

Jet Pilot Is Blamed For Airliner Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board Friday pinned the blame for the collision of an airliner and a jet collision of an airliner and a jet trainer near Brunswick, Md. last May on the jet pilot.

The pilot of the Maryland Air National Guard Lockheed T33, Capt. Julius R. McCoy, 34, of Baltimore, was the only survivor of the collision.

Seven passengers and a crew of four aboard the Capital Airlines Viscount jetliner were killed, as was a passenger in the training plane.

The CAB said in a 25-page report on the accident that the probable cause was the failure of the T33 pilot "to exercise a proper and adequate vigilance to see and avoid other traffic."

The accident occurred in conditions of good visibility, with only scattered clouds.

The board said studies showed that the co-pilot of the airliner could not have seen the jet plane until the instant of impact, and the airline pilot could not have seen the T33 until at the most 26 seconds before the collision.

"As for the T33 pilot, there was no obstruction to his seeing the Viscount for well over a minute before collision," the board said.

"The evidence is clear that the T33 pilot had ample opportunity to see the Viscount and avoid it."

The CAB said it believes from testimony taken, that the collision was observed on radar by an air traffic controller at Washington National Airport.

The report said it was tragic that no radar return was received from the T33 in time for the traffic controller to alert the transport crew.

It said that as more advanced and sensitive equipment is developed many limitations of radar traffic control will be alleviated and it should be possible to prevent this type of aircraft accident.

The CAB said the indications were that the jet overtook the Viscount while in a shallow climb and while the airliner was descending for a proposed landing at Baltimore's Friendship Airport. The Capital plane had left Chicago for Baltimore with one stop on the way at Pittsburgh where it dropped off a number of passengers.

The T33 pilot was on a proficiency flight from Martin Airport near Baltimore and had taken with him a passenger who was considering joining the Air Guard.

"It is evident that Capt. McCoy, from his overtaking position, had ample opportunity to see the Viscount ahead of him and take evasive action," the CAB said.

"The board believes that Capt. McCoy was not exercising the normal lookout for other aircraft required and expected of him. Had he done so this accident might well have been avoided."

"Conversely, the board does not believe the Viscount pilots' failure to see the T33 in the 26 seconds which it could have been seen is evidence of a failure to maintain a normal vigilance."

The report noted that both McCoy and the Viscount co-pilot had been involved in previous collisions.

Navy 'Copters Airlift 27 To Safety In Bay

By The Associated Press

Naval helicopters performed five airlifts in rescuing twenty-seven persons yesterday from isolated Chesapeake Bay areas.

Coast Guardsmen and Chincoteague Naval Air Station personnel teamed up to aid a hunting party of eleven persons from Bens Island in Chincoteague Bay. The hunters, all from Washington, had used the last of their food, and the frozen bay had prevented return to the mainland.

Two hunters were lifted from their ice-imprisoned boats, while two others were rescued from their positions in duck blinds.

Four men and two women were hauled to safety from a small island off Saxis, Va. The six elderly people had run out of food and summoned help.

In two separate incidents near Holland Island in the Chesapeake Bay, five oystermen were rescued after their boats were trapped in ice.

One other duck hunter was rescued in Chincoteague Bay.

Fifth Coast Guard District officials requested the Patuxent River Naval Air Station to conduct an air search on eastern Chesapeake Bay between Barren Island and Kent Island. The Coast Guard asked that bays and river entrances also be searched, as the first freeze-up of the year clutched the area.

Commercial traffic on Maryland waters was having its troubles. The 75-foot tug Dottie Dee and the 210-foot barge Gallo were ice-bound in the Nanticoke River. The Coast Guard cutter Barbary out of Norfolk was working toward freeing the vessels.

The frozen bay also was creating a financial hardship on the oyster industry. Nearly all the tongs on both the eastern and western shores were frozen in. Ice was three to five inches thick in coves, creeks and rivers.

Ice cakes six inches thick, or more, were jamming the bays around the southern part of Dorchester County. Complete clogging of tributaries on the Eastern Shore was reported by the Coast Guard.

Continued cold was predicted for the weekend, with temperatures averaging four to eight degrees below normal. A rising trend was expected Tuesday or Wednesday.

Labor Council Has Internal Trouble Area

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Edward H. Johns, whose surprise refusal to seek re-election as president of the Baltimore AFL-CIO Council touched off reports of trouble within the merged union, said Friday "a few people are in the way" of making the merger successful.

But they "will get out of the way and everything will settle down," said Johns without identifying the "people."

He stepped out as a possible candidate for re-election and severed all ties with the merged union after a stormy session in Baltimore Thursday night.

Johns, in Annapolis Friday to lecture at the International Labor Center on the St. John's College campus, was asked about reports that delegates from the old AFL and CIO groups were contesting for control of the joint organization.

"No comment," replied the 39-year-old labor leader, smiling.

The council represents more than 100,000 union members in the Baltimore area. Under terms of the 1958 merger agreement former CIO unions were given eight of the council's top jobs. Only seven went to AFL men, but these include the presidency and secretary.

Johns withdrew after the narrow defeat of a move to strip the presidency of much of its power and create a new executive post whose occupants would conduct the bulk of the merged union's administrative affairs.

Besides severing his council connections, Johns also said he will resign from his many posts with civic and charitable organizations. He has been chairman of the Port of Baltimore Commission served on the boards of the March of Dimes, Community Chest, United Nations Assn., Urban League, Muscular Dystrophy Assn., Red Cross and the Boy Scouts.

After Johns eliminated himself from the picture Thursday night, three men were nominated for president in the elections to be held Feb. 6. Two, Uke Helm of the brewery workers and John Lesnick of the steelworkers, are CIO candidates. The third, Francis Filby of the postal workers, is an AFL candidate.

shrugged them off and got in a dig against President Eisenhower's State of the Union speech.

The beetle-browed Russian leader made such a fast getaway from angry pickets at Chicago's Midway Airport that he left his official host in the lurch.

At least one egg made a direct hit on Mikoyan's black limousine. The car started to pull away just as the Russian's official host, Edward L. Ryerson, retired board chairman of Inland Steel Co., tried to enter it.

Ryerson pluckily hung onto the roof of the moving car, but had to drop off and take another auto to a hotel where more pickets awaited the Russians.

Rush Police Lines

Eggs were thrown at Mikoyan a total of three times and once pickets tried to break police lines protecting him.

The Russian official told a news conference, however, that he hasn't been alarmed or surprised by the pickets who have bothered him at Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago in his tour of the United States.

"These small handfuls don't represent the great volume of the American people," Mikoyan said. He added that the demonstrations were "more a comedy than anything else" and about what he had expected.

Speaking through an interpreter, Mikoyan chided President Eisenhower for saying in his State of the Union address that "we have learned the bitter lesson that internal agreements historically considered by us as sacred are regarded in Communist doctrine to be mere scraps of paper."

education, water resources, highways, and rebuilding cities.

In national defense, Eisenhower said, increased efficiency and avoidance of waste are a secondary aim. The prime goal, he said, is a sensible posture of defense. His budget, he said, advances both.

Working by these guide lines," the President said, "I believe with all my heart that America can be as sure of the strength and efficiency of her armed forces as she is and has always been of their loyalty. I am equally sure that the nation will thus avoid useless expenditures which, in the name of security, might tend to undermine the economy and, therefore, the nation's safety."

This appeared to be his reply to criticism that the administration is failing to keep up the nation's guard in a space age era carrying the danger of catastrophic war.

Murder Case Goes To Jury At La Plata

LA PLATA, Md. (AP) — A jury started deliberating the case of Albert G. Carboneau Friday night after the prosecution summed up asking for a finding of first degree murder.

Earlier Friday the slim, 33-year-old defendant took the stand and admitted he held a pistol with which the state claims he killed State Police Commander Lt. Leonard N. Brown.

Carboneau, a drug store clerk at Bryans Road as well as a television repairman and auto salesman, testified after the court denied defense motions for a directed verdict of innocent.

Lt. Brown, who commanded the Waldorf Barracks in Charles County, was shot to death early July 7 while leading a stake out of several troopers at Smith's Steakhouse at Bryans Road. Police were acting on a tip the place was to be burglarized.

The owner of the steakhouse, Banks Smith, 35, is charged along with Albert J. Salem, 37-year-old parttime detective, with conspiring to promote commission of a crime with Carboneau.

Presiding over the case in Charles County Circuit Court were Chief Judge John B. Gray Jr. and Judge J. Dudley Digges.

Carboneau confirmed he had married the attractive blonde former wife of Smith since the shooting took place. She had put up the $15,000 bail which freed the defendant until his trial.

Carboneau, wearing mismatched brown pants and coat, testified he suspected he was being framed in the fake burglary scheme.

But he said he was frightened and went into the darkened steakhouse to think things over.

Carboneau admitted using Smith's keys to open the door to the establishment. After locking the door behind him, Carboneau said he was stumbling around in the darkness when he bumped into "flesh and bone."

The defendant told the court the other person gave him a shove and asked, "Who are you?" Then two shots rang out, the lights went on and police appeared. Lt. Brown was lying on the floor.

Girl, 17, Freed In Slaying

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — A 17-year-old girl charged with the slaying of her brother-in-law last month was freed of a murder charge Friday and placed in temporary custody of an aunt.

The girl, a resident of Alexandria since 1957, told police the .30 caliber rifle went off as her sister's husband, Franklin R. Robinson, 24, shoved it into her hand.

Robinson died in Alexandria hospital Dec. 22 of a bullet wound in the stomach two hours after the shooting.

In a signed statement, the girl said her brother-in-law had been intimate with her in the past and had made the demand again a few minutes before the shooting, in the living room of the Robinson apartment.

Police said the pair had been drinking.

See To Sponsor Supplemental Pension Bill

One of the first "local" bills to be introduced by State Sen. Charles M. See in the State Senate next week will be one that would correct inequities in pensions of older Allegheny County public school teachers.

Sen. See said in Annapolis yesterday the measure would provide for $50 a month supplemental payments.

Those who would qualify after the legislation passes would be those who, after July 1, would have 30 years of service, or be 60 years of age and have at least 10 years duty in this county.

The legislative committee of the Allegheny County Teachers Association, which has backed the move, pointed out that the pension inequities were brought about by the low salaries paid during the depression years and during World War II when their pay was frozen.

In 1955, the General Assembly passed legislation that made adjustments for those teachers hired after that date.

The Board of Allegheny County Commissioners which went out of office in November approved this supplemental payment last January but Gorman S. Getty, then county attorney, said enabling legislation would be necessary.

Sen. See said that after introducing the bill he will call a hearing for the present county commissioners and the legislative committee of the county teachers association.

Secretaries Hear Talk On Success

I. Fred Anderson, commercial manager of the C. and P. Telephone Company at Keyser and Piedmont, was the speaker at the meeting of Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association, at Central Y.M.C.A. Miss Dorothy Campbell presided.

"Ten Ingredients of Success" was Mr. Anderson's subject. He stated that eyes should be open to the future; the best is yet to come. The ten ingredients on which success is built, according to Mr. Anderson, are: choose well; work hard; be loyal; develop a team spirit; be curious; be flexible; study; take a chance; be a good citizen; and believe in God.

In business choosing the right field is very important. After you have chosen your field you should work diligently and study with it; and do more than is expected of you. You should do every job the very best you can. Believe in what you are doing. Stressing the importance of these ingredients to success, the speaker stated that one should be curious above all. Don't be afraid to move about in your business career. Change if time changes. Education is more vitally needed today than at any other time in the history of our country. It has gone a long way, but it is up to everyone to make it go further. You should strive to learn as much as you can about future developments. A good citizen should contribute 10% of his time to his community. He should obey laws and be honest. The most important ingredient in our lives is believing in God — participate actively in church affairs. Mr. Anderson pointed out that the ten ingredients to success all mean work and application. Twenty-one members and five guests attended.

Attention was called to have a combined board and membership meeting at the Y on Monday, January 19, at 7:30 p.m.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SKILLED FINGERS

As the skillful fingers of the surgeon work; prayers are on the lips of loved ones. Although there is faith in the knowledge and skill of the surgeon, all realize God's help is needed.

Eventually, most men realize that skill and science are not enough. Even those of us who haven't been to church services for a long, long time find ourselves instinctively saying, "Please, God," when we face a crisis.

Why wait until then? God's providential help is needed by everyone—in time of crisis and in making the constant decisions of everyday life. The doors of the Church are wide open. Won't you come in?

It Wouldn't Be Easy At Best

Something written recently by an English historian puts the Berlin question into clearer focus. Herbert Butterfield, in discussing the importance of Berlin, asks his "audience" to assume for a minute that "the Soviet group of states on the one hand and the Western group on the other are absolutely level in point of virtue and in the moral qualities of the statesmen who conduct their affairs." No saints, of course, but moderately virtuous men.

Yet the virtuous leaders of the Western powers, "confronted by the Russian colossus, would feel that they cannot allow the defeated Germany to be drawn into the orbit of the Communist system."

And the virtuous men of the hypothetical Soviet Union would be "ridden by the mathematically equal and opposite fear that the balance will be turned against her for all the future if Germany is enlisted in the non-Communist group."

Therefore, concludes Butterfield, the greatest conflict in history "could be produced without the intervention of any great criminals who might be out to do deliberate harm in the world."

In short, in the best of circumstances a Soviet bloc and a Western bloc would be vitally concerned that the powerful Germany in the middle didn't swing to the other side. How much more so, then, when aggressive aims and dreams of world domination are involved.

This is why neither side can back down on Berlin, the key to the future of Germany. The balance of power for all the future is there involved.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

In Union There Is Strength

The economic advantage of Soviet Russia in its fight for commercial markets is that the Kremlin acts for all the countries of the Soviet Union State, whereas among the Western powers capitalist competition continues unabated. It is the essential difference between the two systems.

Thus, Anastas Mikoyan came to the United States and is entertained by Eric Johnston of the motion picture industry whose interest it is to sell motion pictures to Soviet Russia or anywhere else. He is a motion picture salesman, dealing with a customer. What Cyrus Eaton's capitalist interest is is not yet clear but it will soon appear. In a word, national policy and even national existence suffer before the urge to sell commodities, just as we sold scrap steel, of which there was then a shortage in this country, to Japan on the verge of Pearl Harbor.

It is a characteristic of the capitalistic system to sell wherever there is a market, to friend or foe, unless restrained by government, and to regard a customer favorably whose terms of payments are satisfactory. It is characteristic of the Soviet system to relate trade to national policy—as everything is related to national policy. We need to understand this essential distinction.

The effort in Europe now is to organize to offset what is rapidly becoming a Soviet advantage, the Europeans having become increasingly conscious of their markets. Two systems are being developed.

1. The European Common Market which has been joined by the following six countries: France, West Germany, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and Italy. This system eliminates tariffs and quotas among these countries, while maintaining them against others including the United States and Great Britain.

2. The British particularly object to the Common Market idea because it is disadvantageous to British trade on the continent of Europe and even more importantly, Great Britain has economic commitments to the members of the Commonwealth which she will not void. Therefore the British have proposed a continental free trade area which would include these countries: France, West Germany, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Italy, the United Kingdom, Norway, Switzerland, Portugal, Iceland, Denmark, Sweden, Greece, Turkey, Eire, and Austria.

Such countries as Spain, Finland and Yugoslavia would have a special status and the United States and Canada would in some way become affiliated, although how the United States can do it constitutionally is to be seen.

At any rate, these ideas envision the political doctrine that united we stand which is without doubt correct. For if the Western powers do not find some way of uniting in this economic war, Soviet Russia, employing its large gold resources, will damage us more than it can do with a dozen Luniks.

The particular American difficulty is that it has already outpaced itself in world markets and its products can only compete with those of other capitalistic countries by being manufactured in those other countries. If Senator Estes Kefauver and others who intend to investigate American business really wish to know and tell the truth, they will look into this situation which is rapidly leading to an economic tragedy. The flow of American capital abroad is not any longer related to aiding our weakened allies but is designed to protect American capital from being dissipated by inflation and at the same time to keep that capital competitive in world markets. There seems to be no better way to do that than to manufacture in countries where wages and other costs, including taxes, are reasonable and a price can be set which has some relationship to reality.

American dollar prices, when translated into the currency of other countries, are so high as to be non-competitive even for goods which heretofore have been American specialties.

The British who have, since Elizabeth I. been the watchdogs of European capitalism, are working to achieve a free trade European market whereas the French, who have generally been protectionist, are the protagonists of the common market within which there will be free trade but which will be protected against competition from outside. Undoubtedly Mikoyan is opposed to both ideas but it seems as though the countries of Europe are not as scared of Russia as they used to be. Maybe that is why Mikoyan has come here to make his deals.

'G'wan - You Can Fly'

Some Questions We Might Ask Mr. Mikoyan

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—As the Deputy Premier of the Soviet government, Anastas Mikoyan is entitled to a courteous reception by the officials of the United States government. The American people, however, are under no obligation to embrace a man whose hands are dripping with the blood not only of his fellow-countrymen but of the people of Hungary and the other captive nations in Eastern Europe.

Indeed, this is the opportunity of a lifetime to do something for the millions of persons imprisoned even now in slave-labor camps in Russia and for the millions who are denied freedom behind the Iron Curtain. For, as Mr. Mikoyan travels around America, questions can be asked him publicly concerning the conditions inside the Soviet Union for which he, as a part of the Kremlin apparatus, is responsible.

When, for instance, will censorship be removed so that the Iron Curtain can be lifted for the more than 300,000,000 people who today are being forbidden to learn the truth of what's going on in the world around them or outside their countries?

When will the millions of innocent men and women under Kremlin control who have been thrust into jail, without a hearing or a trial, be given a chance to regain their liberty?

When will the elderly persons in the Soviet Union who have children in the United States and other countries be permitted to leave their native land so they may visit their families abroad?

When will the people of the Soviet Union be given a chance to vote in a free election — an election in which more than the government's own party is allowed to put up candidates?

When will the right of self-government be given once more to Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, Poland, and Rumania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and East Germany?

and, Rumania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and East Germany?

When will freedom of expression be permitted for the writers of the Soviet Union, and when will an author like Boris Pasternak be allowed to accept an award given him by a non-political organization abroad such as the Nobel Prize for literature?

When will the Kremlin withdraw its troops from the smaller countries contiguous to it and let their peoples enjoy complete sovereignty?

Above all, when will the Soviet government begin to honor its pledges and its promises as written in treaties, agreements and documents of an international nature in the 13 years since the close of World War II?

For there can be no assurance of peace if one of the powerful governments, with a vast military machine at its disposal, can at any time violate its written word and plunge the world into war.

There can be no trust, moreover, as long as the basic principles of freedom and a free society are ignored by the tyrants and autocrats in the Kremlin.

Anastas Mikoyan is a symbol of dictatorship. This very week Americans generally — especially those on the "liberal" side — have been enthusiastically acclaiming Fidel Castro and expressing satisfaction that Batista, the dictator, has been overthrown in Cuba. Americans ought not to adopt one rule for dictators in this hemisphere and another for the dictators in Europe. Only a few days ago Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, said in a report to the White

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

The new House of Representatives is about to start wrestling with the federal budget. You took your choice and they pay your money.

Congressmen start on the federal budget as Democrats and Republicans. When it's over you can't tell them from liberals without a program.

We use about half the federal budget for ordinary expenses. The other half just to keep the country from going.

We give away a lot of our money, too. We don't want our friends going into the Red.

The Soviet has published its second volume of "Soviet Foreign Policy Documents." Illustrating, perhaps, what seems to be Soviet policy that turnabout is fair play.

Lt. Col. John D. Fulton of the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine says there has been much debate on whether life on Mars would be the same as life on Earth. Sometimes one feels inclined to take a chance that it wouldn't.

The Association of German Cigar Manufacturers says women of Denmark smoke more cigars than men of most other countries. And women of most other countries hardly deign to smoke cigars at all.

Tietze's Disease: Sore Chest From Coughing

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Several years ago I wrote on a painful chest condition due to coughing. Pain developed in the region of the left breast from a spot that might be swollen, sore, and tender to the touch. Some of the victims feared heart trouble and the smokers were certain the answer was lung cancer. This type of chest discomfort is called Tietze's disease, after the German physician who brought it to our attention.

Nothing new has been added to our knowledge of the disorder but it occurs so frequently, it should be better known. This type of chest pain comes from injury to the chest wall, caused by coughing. The structure that bears the brunt is the cartilaginous joint connecting one of the ribs to the breastbone, which is dislocated by violent or repeated coughing. No wonder the area is tender and becomes irritated by deep breathing or continued hacking.

Initially the patient feels as though a heavy weight were pressing upon the chest. Soreness is aggravated by any movement, including coughing, deep breathing, or lifting. Lying down offers no relief; if anything, it increases pain. The intensity of the distress varies from hour to hour and week to week. It may last for several days only to disappear and recur at intervals thereafter.

In others, months elapse and the person thinks he is cured. But the syndrome returns with the next cold or during a period of overwork when the sufferer becomes rundown.

No one dies of Tietze's disease but apprehension is common when other organs are blamed. The distress produced by heart disease and cancer does not resemble that from Tietze's and the victim is relieved when this is explained.

During the painful stage, heat and aspirin offer temporary relief. Hot moist towels, an electric pad, or the infrared lamp are preferred to the heavier hot water bag, which causes additional pressure on the chest. Injections of an anesthetic solution such as novocaine are helpful. Sometimes X-ray therapy is of value. Complete recovery is the rule.

FLUIDS IN DROPSY

The majority of dropsical persons can drink enough water to avoid thirst. In order to do this, salt intake must be limited and the indi-

GOP Making Healthier Showing In Congress Than Democrats

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Political observers, accustomed to keeping score on the ebb and flow of American politics, give the edge in the past 10 days to the Republicans.

In November, after the Democrats elected the largest number of Senators in two decades, and rolled up a big new margin in the House, some observers were predicting that the Republican elephant was just about down and out. Now they've decided there's life in the old gal yet.

What's perked up opinion of Republicans is largely the fact that they have resorted to the democratic processes. In contrast, the Democrats deserted the democratic processes in passing on the gag rule of Congressman Smith's Rules Committee. They let one man, Speaker Sam Rayburn, decide the issue. There was no democratic debate in caucus. Everything was decided in advance, even to the seating of contested Congressman Dale Alford of Arkansas.

Meanwhile, the Republicans battled it out, by the democratic process, for their new leader. Actually the new leader, Charlie Halleck, will be no different in policy from good old Joe Martin. But the fact that the Republicans staged a battle and changed leaders gave the GOP a healthier look.

Simultaneously, Republican Senators also staged a healthy battle between Old Guard Dirksen and liberal Cooper for the Senate GOP leadership. The Old Guard won, but the fact that they battled it out gave the public an impression of vigor.

Democratic Senators are showing plenty of democratic fight over the filibuster. But, as Sen. Clinton Anderson warned inside a closed-door Democratic meeting this week, Vice President Nixon stands to get the credit regarding civil rights and the ending of filibustering. Lyndon Johnson's hand is smooth and efficient, but most of the time it's a hand of iron.

So, despite the overwhelming Democratic majorities in both houses of Congress, it looks as if the public would benefit from that principle which has kept the USA on an even keel for over a century—plenty of competition.

Martin Shaken

There was some explosive oratory behind the closed doors of the Republican caucus which voted to oust Joe Martin of Massachusetts as GOP leader in favor of Charlie Halleck of Indiana. Rep. Leo Allen of Illinois, a Martin man, roughly chided his colleagues for agreeing to a secret ballot—a move that aided Halleck.

"It is obvious that a number of my colleagues are afraid to make their position known," asserted Allen. "They are rubber-legged, and by that I mean—no guts. All of us should stand up and be counted, right out in the open, so there will be no question about who is voting for whom."

The 74-year-old Martin was visibly shaken by the 74-70 vote against him.

"I am reminded of something General MacArthur once said about an old soldier fading away," he declared. "Today I am fading away. Of course I am grieved. I never dreamed after all these years that my career would come to a close in this way."

Then he added, with a grin: "I wish I could have got 2 or 3 more votes. But now that the issue is settled, I want to thank the 70 members, tried and true friends, who supported me."

School Fires

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce gnashed its teeth and issued a special bulletin berating me when I called attention to its lobbying against the school construction bill. It was especially irate over mention of the fact that crowded, inadequate schools can lead to fires.

However, the U. S. Chamber might well read the report of the American Institute of Architects. It too has something to say about inadequate schools and fires.

"Chicago's disastrous school fire," report the architects, "has focused attention on the unsafe conditions which exist in thousands of obsolete school buildings still in daily use. Despite prodigious efforts of communities during the past few years to provide adequate educational facilities for their booming enrollments, the rate of construction has barely kept pace with increased attendance. Overcrowded classrooms in outmoded buildings are all too common in U. S. cities and towns today."

Courageous Congressman Frank Thompson of New Jersey has announced that he will press for new school legislation this year. For six years Eisenhower has talked about a school construction bill but has done nothing about passing it. In 1957 and 1958, Thompson, together with Congressman Metcalf of Montana, Udall of Arizona, and Vanik of Ohio, adopted the President's own school construction bill and tried to get Republicans to push it. But Ike's own leader in the House, Charlie Halleck, now elevated to the top leadership, spiked the school construction bill. Two-Cadillac Charlie sent his son to a swank private school.

Under The Dome

Charlie Halleck, new House GOP leader, can now be called "three-Cadillac Charlie." Immediately after the war when automobiles were extremely hard to get, Congressman Halleck blossomed out with two Cadillacs—how, still remains a mystery. This week he took away Joe Martin's Cadillac. . . . When hard-hitting Congressman Chet Holifield called on Speaker Sam Rayburn to revamp the gag rule which bottles legislation up in the Rules Committee, Sam replied: "Howard Smith will have to play ball like everyone else. No one is bigger than the Democratic party." . . . Astute Sen. Lyndon Johnson sent some campaign funds to help out Sen. Dennis Chavez in his race for reelection last November. Today, Chavez, once a battler for civil rights, is siding with Johnson on the question of ending filibusters.

The Year Ahead

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—The year ahead for business promises a continuation of the 1958 trend, with a new record for gross national product.

This is based on indications that:

Consumers, with record personal income, will spend more for goods and services. Also, consumer installment debt is down and savings are up.

State and local government spending for public works will move more than offset any economy moves by the federal government. As to economy at the federal level, this will likely prove more talk than action.

Farmers will experience a further increase in income and will spend more.

Business will continue to replenish inventory, particularly in the first six months in anticipation of a steel strike.

Business profits will be higher and dividends will be more generous.

There are areas for questioning, such as:

1.—Strikes and their effect on the economy. That picture is glum, with every indication of a touch steel strike in the summer.

2.—The auto industry, whether the present better-than-indicated public buying will carry through the spring.

3.—Business capital spending, whether this picks up under the pressure to offset the higher labor costs.

4. Tight money, whether this will slow down the housing boom in the summer.

On the balance the outlook is good. The recovery is young and the momentum is bound to carry through most of the new year. The pace could be slowed down by any of the doubtful areas.

Whether 1959 is a boom year or just a good year will depend largely on public acceptance of the offerings of the motor car industry and the continued expansion of housing.

Consumers have the money for a greatly stepped up buying of durables, such as motor cars, household appliances and home furnishings. In this connection, it is well to note that auto demand, after being held back by the strikes, has picked up in recent weeks. So has the demand for household appliances, which, along with autos, were contributing factors in the slump.

The bright spot is consumer spending for non-durable goods and services. This held up all through the recession and made a new high. This year, a 10 per cent increase is indicated.

A year ago, there was doubt that 1958 would show any improvement, until possibly the last quarter. Instead business hit bottom in April and by the year-end had made up all the ground lost in the nine months of recession.

The Federal Reserve index of industrial production slid from its 1957 high of 147 to a low of 133. It closed last year around 146, approximating the previous peak.

The same as to gross national product. This fell from an annual rate of $439 billion in mid '57 to $425 billion and wound up last year around $450 billion in the final quarter. This is in dollars, but in physical volume the 1957 record also was reached by last year's end. Inflation is a factor in the dollar figure, as shown by the fact at the end of the war GNP was around $210 billion.

The 1957-58 correction was one of the shortest and steepest on record, but so was the recovery. It is one of the most rapid and complete recoveries in such a space of time—eight months.

One of the peculiarities of the recession was that wages and prices, instead of coming down, went up.

This is the third time since the war that the country has taken a readjustment in its stride. It speaks well for the system as well as for the new year.

Valley Beats Fort Hill in Double Overtime Game, 63-61

Metts' Foul Goals Decide WMI Opener

Mr. Savage Defeats Allegany, 54 To 48; Beall Wins, 70-54

By TED TROXELL.
Valley High School's Black Knights edged out Fort Hill in a thrilling "sudden death" overtime battle, 63-61, to send the WMI League off to a rousing start last night, and results of other contests foretell an interesting season for the six-team circuit which is beginning its 39th year of play. Mt. Savage, a decided underdog the past few years, defeated Allegany, 54-48, and Beall swept past the Bruce High Bulldogs by the score of 70-54.

Two free throws by Clifton "Tippy" Metts after only four seconds had elapsed in the "sudden death" stanza of the spintangler at Fort Hill gave Coach Johnny Meyers' Lonaconing eagles a cherished victory over the defending champions of the WMI.

Fort Hill had fought from nine points behind with four minutes to go in the regulation contest, with a pair of driving layups by Bill Sheetz deadlocking the score at 37-41 and sending the game into overtime.

In the first extra heat, Valley's George Lauder connected twice from the field on jump shots and the Sentinels' Charlie Robinson and Dave Baldwin each scored two-points to set the stage for the "sudden death" showdown with the score still knotted at 61-61.

Metts fouled Metts. Metts was fouled by Fort Hill's Donnie Lewis in a mad scramble for possession of the ball four seconds after the opening tipoff of the period. The diminutive Black Knight forward made the first attempt, but needed to connect on the bonus throw, since the first team to accumulate two points would automatically be declared the winner. His second shot danced around the rim momentarily, then fell through as jubilant Valley fans poured onto the floor.

Lauder, who has been the hero of many Valley victories in his four years as a regular on the Black Knight squad, almost developed into the "goat" of the contest when he missed an easy layup attempt with only nine seconds remaining in the fourth quarter.

The Sentinels, however, were unable to score after gaining possession and big George redeemed himself by keeping Valley in the game in the first overtime with his pair of field goals. Fort Hill's "late-inning" rally was led principally by Sheetz. Following a free throw by Bob Brown of Valley which gave the Knights a 57-48 advantage with 4:04 showing on the clock, Robinson tallied on a jump shot from the side and Sheetz tossed in a foul to cut the margin to 57-51. Leroy Henry and Baldwin hit from the charity stripe, then Sheetz drove in for a layup to pull the Sentinels within two points, at 57-55, with 1:45 left in the game. Thirty seconds later, he again drove in for a field goal to tie the count, after which neither team was able to score in the regulation game.

Winner Scores 18
A quartet of Valley eagles scored in double figures, led by center "Hank" Winner with 18 points. Lauder collected 14, Metts 13, and Brown chipped in with 10 for the Knights, who as a team connected on 27 of 62 field goal attempts for a percentage of 43.

Robinson stood out offensively and defensively for the Sentinels, leading his mates with 24 points, on 12 of 23 field goals. He was fouled in the point-producing department by Sheetz with 15, and Baldwin and Henry with 19 apiece. Fort Hill posted a 412 mark from the floor — 28 for 68.

Another hard-fought struggle at Campobello saw Coach Johnny Thomas' unbeaten Mt. Savage Indians outscore Allegany in the final quarter to chalk up a 54-48 win over the perennially dangerous Campers.

Lead 26-14 At Half
Mt. Savage jumped off to a 26-14 lead at halftime, but a full-court press by West Siders wrecked the visitors' offense and Allegany took the lead at the end of the third period by the narrow margin of one point, 36-35. The Indians came back in the fourth stanza to outscore the Campers, 19-12, and nail down their seventh consecutive victory.

The Camper quint held the upper hand in the field goal column, 22-18, but was able to click on only four of 16 free throw attempts, while Mt. Savage caged 18 of 26 from the foul circle.

Jack Lowery paced both teams in scoring with 17 points, while Gerald Horton was high man for Allegany with 14 tallies. Richard "Baldy" Powell, Alco pivotman, fouled out late in the final quarter.

Beall High's Mountaineers recorded their third straight win by downing Bruce, 70-54, in a game played at Frostburg. Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's five, which dropped

Romney Bags 6th In PVC, Defeats Vikings, 90-55

ROMNEY, W. Va., Jan. 9 — Romney High School's Pioneers rolled to their sixth consecutive triumph in the Potomac Valley Conference by walloping the Petersburg High School Vikings here tonight by the score of 90-55.

The win gave Coach Clyde Green's quint an 8-0 record for the season. Bill Mapshis, sharpshooting junior, garnered 37 points for the Pioneers by hitting for 16 goals and 5-6 at the 15-foot line. Donnie Davis pitched in 16 points and Roscoe Dean garnered ten.

LaSalle Beats Paw Paw High Pirates, 46-37

Explorers Chalk Up Second Straight Win

LaSalle High's Explorers, putting together a victory string for the first time this season, defeated Paw Paw's Pirates, 46-37, for their second triumph in a row last night on the SS. Peter and Paul court.

The Explorers of Coach George Getz, who snapped a three-game losing spin by topping Bedford, 50-39, Tuesday, jumped off to a 13-9 first quarter lead and a 25-15 margin at halftime but had to stave off a Paw Paw attack in the third and fourth quarters for the win.

The score was knotted at 3, 7 and 9 in the first heat before Jack Bahen's twin-pointer put LaSalle on top for the remainder of the contest. The Explorers, who are now 4-6 on the campaign, held the gap at 31-20 in the third stanza for their biggest lead of the evening.

With six minutes of play left the Pirates came within three points, 38-35, but frenzied play resulting from a "freeze" executed by LaSalle had the Explorers stretching their lead on quick scoring plays.

The losers' Jim Sharp and Tom Malcolm exited the game via personal fouls with 40 and 20 minutes remaining.

Mickey Scaletta, Mike Mackert and Carroll Wilt equally shared 33 points to pace LaSalle, while Kevin Edmonson and Sharp tallied 23 of Paw Paw's total.

LaSalle held the upperhand at the close of each quarter—13-9, 25-15, 34-30 and outscored the Pirates in field goals, 17-14.

The Getzteam will play in Pittsburgh tomorrow against South Hills High in a return engagement. The locals dropped the series opener, 83-55.

The setback last night was only the second for Glenn Smith's Pirates who have copped seven decisions. Boxscore:

Cord of Thanks

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for the kindness shown in our bereavement, the death of our sister, Mrs. Clara Ethel Miller. We also want to thank Rev. Harris, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and any who helped in any way.

MRS. PEARL MOSER
MRS. MARY RENROADE

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Youngblood of Paw Paw, W. Va., wishes to thank everyone for their generous donations after their recent disaster, (everything being destroyed by fire).

Thanks to your generosity we have received everything necessary to maintain a home.

In Memoriam

In memory of my beloved Grandson, Lester Lee Green, who passed away Nov. 9, 1958.

The blow was hard, the shock severe. We never thought his death so near. Only those who have lost can tell. The pain of parting without farewell. He little thought when leaving home, That he soon in death would sleep. And leave us here to mourn. God knows how much we miss him. Never shall his memory fade. Loving thoughts shall ever wander. To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly missed by his GRANDMA ANDREWS, Grandson, Md.

475 Turn Out To Pay Tribute To Sen. Beall

Testimonial Dinner Given In His Honor

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Some 475 of the home folks, business men, laborers, Republicans and Democrats gathered at the Clary Club last night to pay tribute to U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall of Frostburg, who was elected to a second term in the Senate November 4 despite the general Democratic trend.

Tribute was paid to the 64-year-old Frostburg Republican as a man who has retained his unspoiled modest simplicity despite his political success in having been elected five times to the House of Representatives and twice to the U. S. Senate in a predominantly Democratic state.

Only one other Allegany County man ever served in the U. S. Senate. He was George L. Wellington of Cumberland who served from 1897 until 1903 in the days when Senators were elected by state legislatures.

Although Senator Beall's many achievements were enumerated by the various speakers, they were told in a rather matter-of-fact way, without pomposity.

Reminiscences of Youth

Remarks of former State Senator William A. Gunter, Cumberland attorney, were considered the highlight of the evening as he traced some of the events in the life of Senator Beall, whom he has known for more than 60 years.

Mr. Gunter recalled that Glenn Beall attended Beall High School, which was named for his uncle, Nelson Beall, who provided the lumber for the original school. However, the young Glenn Beall never finished there because his mother sent him to a private Episcopal school in Baltimore, as she had visions of his becoming an Episcopal priest.

"Had she succeeded, we might be honoring Bishop Beall tonight instead of Senator Beall," Mr. Gunter asserted.

The Cumberland attorney observed the large number of Democrats in the audience and commented that was one of the reasons the Clary Club ran out of fish. With his usual dry humor, Mr. Gunter presented "crying towels" to Senator and Mrs. Beall during his reminiscence.

Two other speakers shared the rostrum with Mr. Gunter. The first was Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, who traced Senator Beall's accomplishments from his graduation from Gettysburg College. He observed that the Frostburg man had served in Army ordnance in World War I, was Allegany County roads director from 1923 until 1930, later was a State Senator for four years, served on the State Roads Commission, was elected to the House of Representatives for five terms beginning in 1942 and moved up to the Senate after his first election in 1952.

"A Good Friend, A Good Citizen"

It was Judge Harris who described Senator Beall as a man who has retained his unspoiled, modest simplicity. He called him a good friend, a good citizen and a cultured gentleman.

Lewis J. Ort, local business man who served as Senator Beall's campaign treasurer last fall, related briefly some of the human interest recollections of the campaign. It was he who presented the Senator a testimonial plaque for his "distinguished and unselfish service."

The last presentation was made by a fellow Frostburger, Register of Wills A. Charles Stewart. Mr. Stewart gave his fellow townsman a large painted photograph of the Senator which was done by Robert Goldfine of this city.

State's Attorney James S. Getty served as toastmaster for the testimonial. He introduced all those at the twin speakers' tables. Besides the participants in the program they included Mrs. Beall, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Ort, Mrs. Getty, Mrs. Gunter, Mrs. Harris, Rev. H. Martin P. Davidson, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Frostburg; J. Glenn Beall Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William E. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. John J. McMullen, Mr. and Mrs. G. William Bibby and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Finan.

Gratitude Expressed

The only non-residents of Allegany County at the speakers' tables were the president and vice president of Mt. St. Mary's College who made the trip from Emmitsburg to join the tribute. They are Rt. Rev. Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president, and Rt. Rev. Msgr. William V. Culhane, vice president.

One of the most effective talks was made by Mrs. Beall, who paid tribute to "you home folks who have helped make this life Glenn and I have shared so stimulating and rewarding." She made this brief comment after receiving a "winter garden" from Mrs. James Shroyck in behalf of the Women's Republican Club of Frostburg.

Senator Beall himself was brief, too, in stating that he was "truly grateful" for the testimonial. He introduced five members of his staff who were present for the affair. He concluded by promising in the future to keep on working for those things which he thought the people wanted him to do.

Msgr. Sheridan delivered the invocation and Father Davidson closed the event with benediction.

Senator Gets His Portrait

Senator and Mrs. J. Glenn Beall of Frostburg admire a photographic portrait of the Senator which was presented to them by A. Charles Stewart, right, Allegany County register of wills, on behalf of the 475 persons who turned out to honor Senator Beall at a testimonial dinner last night at the Clary Club. The non-political gathering paid tribute to Senator Beall as the first Allegany countian ever to be elected to the U. S. Senate by popular vote.

City To Begin Shade's Lane Water Line

Pipe Bids Will Be Awarded Monday

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light announced yesterday that work will begin soon on the Shade's Lane water project.

The Mayor and Council, he said, will award a contract for pipe needed for line job on Monday.

Bids for the 3,600 feet of eight-inch asbestos concrete pipe were opened Monday and have been tabulated.

The project will be a bargain for the city, as the Hout Construction Company, which has its facilities just outside the city line, has offered to dig trenches and backfill if the line is run to its property.

Water Department crews will be used to lay the new water line. Other water line projects planned this winter and spring will serve the new National Guard Armory and boost pressure in the Dorn Avenue section.

The commissioner also reported that the clean up-paint job at the filter plant at Lake Gordon should be completed by spring. The work is being done by filtration plant employees on days when it is too cold for outside tasks.

The filter plant, Mr. Light said, is working efficiently. The filter beds and contact basins, he said, are being operated according to a schedule set up by Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the modernization of the plant.

Man Is Fined For Larceny

John Michaels of Points, W. Va., who was tried on a larceny charge yesterday before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick was fined $25 and given a 60-day suspended jail term.

A companion, Jake Malcomb, also of Points, was found not guilty on the same charge. The two men were charged with the theft of two tires and wheels from cars belonging to the Gulick Auto Sales here.

They were taken into custody yesterday by City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van and Detective Thomas J. See, who said the larceny occurred on December 20. The two men went to the used car lot and asked to drive a couple of the cars with the purpose of buying one.

While they had the cars off the lot, authorities said, they removed two tires and wheels from the trunks of the vehicles. Michaels pleaded guilty to the charge and both men waived their right to trial by jury.

Meeting Is Deferred

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday the Board of Allegany County Commissioners has rescheduled a joint meeting asked by the city from Tuesday to Thursday, January 15.

Bowmans Addn. Firemen To Burn Christmas Trees

Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company will hold a public Christmas tree burning on property adjacent to the fire hall on Monday between 6 and 7 p. m., according to Fire Chief Leo C. Emerick.

Chief Emerick said a survey of the community shows that several families have not yet removed their Christmas trees and he urges that all these be taken out of the area immediately as they represent a fire hazard.

Trees will be picked up Monday by Gilbert Kerns, the area's garbage contractor, who has

$91 Stolen From Safe In Restaurant

City police have reported that someone broke into the Spaghetti House at 16 South Mechanic Street early yesterday morning and took $91 from a cabinet-type safe.

The breaking and entering and larceny is being investigated by City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van, who said it occurred sometime between 2:30 a. m. and 9 a. m. when it was reported to police headquarters.

Entrance was gained by entering a passageway in the rear of the building. The intruder entered the ladies rest room, pushed open a small window and entered the building.

Van said the intruder then went to the cabinet-type safe and used a hairpin or other small object to open the lock.

A total of $91 was removed, according to Van, who said the bills were in denominations of 20s, 10s and one dollar bills. Some silver was removed by the intruder who exited by the front door. The cabinet was not forced open, Van said.

Motorist Fined In 3-Car Crash

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick yesterday warned a West Virginia motorist not to drive in Maryland until he has insurance on his car.

The reckless driving case stemmed from a three-car crash about 1:45 p. m. yesterday which caused a traffic snarl on Baltimore Street near the Mechanic Street intersection.

Leo C. Feather, RD 1, Terra Alta, charged with reckless driving, by Police Officer John Daum, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and given a 90-day suspended sentence.

The other cars in the crash were driven by Herman M. Roberts of Burlington, W. Va., and Leonard Emerick of Cresaptown. Roberts and Emerick, traveling east on Baltimore Street were waiting for the light to change when Feather's car crashed into the Emerick car, shoving it into the Roberts car.

Man Is Struck By Telephone Pole

A 28-year Portmoss, Va., man was admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, early yesterday afternoon after a telephone pole rolled on him.

He is Harry McDaniel, an employee of the Haban Trucking Mine Company, Norfolk, Va. Mr. McDaniel was in good condition last night after treatment for fractures of both bones of the left leg.

He was getting ready to unload a truckload of telephone poles at the C & P lot at the rear of the Amoco Service Station on East Main Street, when the band holding the poles snapped and allowed one of the poles to fall.

Man Is Hospitalized In Two-Vehicle Crash

Robert Aleshire, 28, of Klosterman Boulevard, LaVale, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for observation and X-rays, yesterday morning for observation of injuries sustained when his car collided with a postal vehicle in Jane Frazier Village, is expected to be discharged today, attaches said.

He suffered a laceration of the left ear and complained of pain in his left shoulder. The driver of the postal truck, Roy B. Whitson, 65, of 203 Columbia Street, reported to the hospital for X-rays and treatment of abrasions of the right knee.

White Labels Reiser Report 'Misleading'

Says PPG Can't Price Itself Out Of Market

John B. White, manager of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Works 7, said yesterday certain statements issued by the Glass Workers International President Ralph Reiser to employees were "quite misleading."

Reiser claimed the Cumberland plant is one of five issues unsettled in contract negotiations and listed the incentive clause, distribution of time, change of operation and seniority as the other four. He also said the local plant was near the top in production in the world.

Mr. White said, "The Cumberland plant is not, as Mr. Reiser stated, one of the top production plants in the world. Our plant, although equipped with the most modern machinery, has not approached the production level for which it was designed and as yet we have not nearly reached the output level of our older plate glass plants. We certainly hope, and will continue to work to produce a maximum of quality plate glass, but we have not achieved this goal," he added.

White said average wage earned by employees during the three months preceding the strike was $2.64 an hour. He said the company feels "these are good rates and they compare most favorably in this area."

"In addition, the company's wage proposal at Cincinnati, Ohio, offered a very substantial increase of 13 cents an hour at Cumberland the first year and 12 cents an hour the second year."

"One of the main problems in our older plants is the distorted wage plan and earnings are out of proportion to effort expended and glass produced. These unjustifiable earnings at other operations are causing the company to be non-competitive with domestic and foreign producers. For the present and future security of our Cumberland plant and our jobs, we cannot price ourselves out of the market by adding excessive costs," White said.

At recent Cincinnati negotiations, Mr. White said local issue discussions had practically been completed with the exception of the Creighton, Pa., plant and "it appeared at that time that this one plant's seniority problem was the main item which prevented the parties from continuing negotiations in order to reach agreement."

Ridgeley Student Hurt On Basketball Court

A 15-year-old student at Ridgeley High School was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from a hip injury sustained while he was playing basketball in the high school gymnasium.

Jack Rowe Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rowe Sr., was admitted for observation and X-rays. Attaches said the lad was playing basketball and fell to the floor. He was taken to the hospital about 2:35 p. m. in the ambulance of the Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Company.

Man Is Hospitalized In Two-Vehicle Crash

Robert Aleshire, 28, of Klosterman Boulevard, LaVale, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for observation and X-rays, yesterday morning for observation of injuries sustained when his car collided with a postal vehicle in Jane Frazier Village, is expected to be discharged today, attaches said.

He suffered a laceration of the left ear and complained of pain in his left shoulder. The driver of the postal truck, Roy B. Whitson, 65, of 203 Columbia Street, reported to the hospital for X-rays and treatment of abrasions of the right knee.

Paper Pact Signing Is Under Way

Wage Increases Go Into Effect Monday

First signatures were affixed yesterday to a new one-year contract between West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and the United Papermakers and Paperworkers (AFL-CIO) for the company's three mills at Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa.

The contract, covering 3,600 employees at the three mills, was signed by D. C. Valentine, labor relations coordinator for the company, and H. E. Scott, vice president of the UPP. It also was signed by representatives of Covington Local 675.

Following the signing at Covington, the contract was forwarded to Luke and Williamsburg for signatures of company officials at both locations, as well as officials of Luke Local 676 and Williamsburg Local 677.

New wage increases ranging from four cents an hour to 11 cents an hour at Luke will become effective Monday, January 12. The new vacation arrangement, providing three weeks' vacation for 10 years' service instead of 15 as in the past, is effective as of this past January 1. The effective date of the contract is November 17, 1958.

The company's hospital insurance offer has been left open pending decision by union members at each mill location. Notification of choice on alternatives offered by the company on hospital insurance must be given to the company by January 24.

The Luke local ratified the new contract early in December and the Williamsburg local ratified it several weeks later, but the Covington local did not ratify the offer until Monday.

Tawes Won't Ask Boost In Tag Fee

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov.-elect Tawes said Friday he will not ask an increase in the motor vehicle registration fee to support state highway maintenance.

The present fee is $5 and the three members of the State Roads Commission—who are scheduled to be replaced soon after Tawes takes office next Wednesday—have recommended an increase to $7.

Without the increase, the construction fund of the commission would be drawn on for some 4 million dollars needed for maintenance.

The SRC expects to need almost 10 million dollars for maintenance in the next fiscal year. But it anticipates an income of less than 6 million from the motor vehicle revenue fund which includes registration charges, traffic fines and miscellaneous fees.

The deficit is nothing new. Last year, $3,300,000 was transferred from construction funds to maintenance. This year, the full 4 million probably will be needed.

Tawes indicated the same device may have to be used next year because he said his budget contains no increases in the motor vehicle revenue fund or in any other category of special funds.

Separate Sessions Continue In PPG Contract Dispute

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Union and management negotiators met separately again Friday in an attempt to settle a strike of 12,000 workers at six plants of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.

Robert W. Donahoo, regional director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said he and two other mediators "continued to explore the disputed issues with the parties in separate sessions." Talks will resume Saturday.

Donahoo said the negotiations have not yet reached the point for a joint session of the parties in the three-month-old dispute. The workers are members of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union.

Six Persons Hurt In Town Hill Crash

Six persons, including three sailors, were injured last night in a one-car crash on the west slope of Town Hill. They were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital, where they were examined, treated and later released.

The three servicemen were on their way to Bainbridge when the accident occurred at 9:30 p. m. Tfc. Jack Browning said none of the persons was injured seriously.

Special Help For Gifted Children Is Sought Here

Plan To Be Told To Youth Commission

Proposals for setting up special facilities for exceptional children of this area were discussed yesterday by representatives of the Board of Education and the Health Department.

Attending the meeting held in the Board of Education offices were Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools; Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel; Dr. Saleem Shah, Baltimore; Dr. David E. Edwards, director of the Mental Health program of the Health Department, and Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

Dr. Shah, consulting clinical psychologist for the Washington, D. C., Department of Health, has served as consultant for the Allegany and Garrett health department for several years.

The exploratory meeting was held to discuss how the Health Department and the Board of Education could work together in developing a program for helping gifted children make the best use of their talents.

Gifted Have Problems

Dr. Edwards pointed out that efforts are being made on a national scale for helping the exceptional, bright or superior child.

A lot of time, effort and money has been spent, Dr. Shah said, for the handicapped child in this area.

He said it was heartening to know that people have so much interest in the field but that it "seems as much, if not more time, effort and money needs to be spent on work for the gifted child."

National surveys and studies, Dr. Shah said, indicate that when the gifted child is not given adequate stimulation, incentive and instruction, he is liable to become a problem in the classroom.

If the gifted child does not have a challenging program, he explained, he is liable to become quite frustrated and bored and may exhibit behavior problems.

May Lose Talents

Surveys in colleges, Dr. Shah said, have shown that many who graduate in the top fifth of their high school class are not interested in going to college because their abilities have not been properly developed and because they have not learned how to use their special talents.

A Pennsylvania State University study, he said, showed that a number of students from the top fifth of their high school classes failed at college because of poor study habits they brought with them from high school.

The poor habits, he added, caught up with the students in their sophomore year when the pressure of work became too great.

Several other surveys indicated that for various reasons some of the best qualified students failed to go on to college.

Extra Personnel Needed

Dr. Shah said all present at the conference agreed there is a great need in Allegany County for special programs and extra personnel to provide proper facilities for exceptional children.

He said it was hoped that all of the facilities of the Board of Education, Health Department and various county agencies may be coordinated so the best use can be made of available facilities.

It was recommended, Dr. Shah said, that professional services be provided for the screening and evaluation of exceptional children.

Coordination of findings of the screening with special instructions and teaching was also recommended.

Working with the parents of gifted children is also needed, it was pointed out, to make sure they understand the special problems faced by their children.

Dr. Edwards said the proposals will be discussed soon with the education committee of the Allegany County Youth Commission.

Final Tax Notices Mailed By City

Final tax notices were mailed yesterday afternoon by the City Collector's Office.

The notices bear a 50-cent service charge to pay for the additional clerical time and the costs of mailing.

'Primrose' Is Butterfat Champion In December

Primrose, a registered Holstein owned by I. L. Brooke & Sons, Pinto, was the December butterfat champion of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association with 111 pounds of butterfat in 2,410 pounds of December milk, according to the report of Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors.

The Brooke herd also had a second cow tied for eighth place among the top 10 butterfat producers for December. Actually, there are 12 cows on the honor roll because of a three-way tie for tenth position.

Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings and Fred C. Siple, Fort Ashby, W. Va., each had three cows on the honor list. The Shumaker cows ranked second, fifth and tied for tenth. Those owned

Apple Tax Boost Being Urged For Promotion Work

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—

The Maryland State Horticulture Society Friday voted to recommend an increase in the apple tax from one to two cents a bushel to help the Appalachian Apple Assn. in its promotion work.

The resolution was adopted at the annual convention, which also reelected D. Eldred Rinehart of Smithburg as president.

W. Lee Allen of the Maryland State Apple Commission urged the tax increase proposal be adopted to carry on the Appalachian association program.

The association includes growers in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Other officers elected by the state group include Gilbert Miller of Spring Gap, first vice president; Raymond K. Gardenhour of Smithsburg, second vice president; Alfred F. Vierheller of College Park, secretary, and Mrs. Vierheller, treasurer.

Dental Clinic Equipment Is Put In Storage

An era in public health work in this area ended Thursday when equipment was removed from the Dental Clinic room of the Allegany County Health Department.

Most of the equipment was stored on the third floor of the Public Safety Building.

The department has been without a clinician since September 1957, when Dr. Karl W. Kolb, 906 Bedford Street, clinician for 22 years, retired.

The room will be used as offices for Dr. David E. Edwards, who is serving as clinician for the department's Mental Health Clinic.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said the dental equipment is not in working condition, the county has no dental director, and the space is needed for the mental health program.

He said the county was unable to get a dental clinician at last year's state salary scale and that while the 1959 wage scale has been boosted to about $7,400, it is not up to the recommendations of the area Dental Society.

The Board of Allegany Commissioners and the Mayor and Council, he said, will be invited to tour the Health Department quarters in the basement of City Hall and the Public Safety Building.

Property Lists To Be Mailed

Some 3,000 personal property assessment schedules are ready for mailing by the Allegany County assessing department, according to Supervisor of Assessments Somerville Nicholson.

This annual mailing goes to individuals, unincorporated firms, farmers and professional people doing business in Allegany County. These schedules must be completed and returned prior to the setting of the 1959 tax levy on the third Tuesday in April.

Corporations report their personal property directly to the State Tax Commission, 31 Light Street, Baltimore 2, Md., by April 15.

Assessor David E. Kirk is in charge of the personal property section of the county. Anyone in business is required to report all furniture and fixtures, machinery and inventories. Farmers must report livestock and machinery. Professional people must report their furniture and fixtures, equipment used professionally and the value of their libraries.

Any person desiring information on the completion of these schedules may secure it by contacting the assessment department at PA 4-3821.

C&O Park Bill Is Introduced By Sen. Beall

Bears Same Number As Previous Measure

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall yesterday introduced a bill providing for the establishment of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park.

The bill is similar to one Senator Beall introduced in the 85th Congress, which passed the Senate but died in the House of Representatives.

Senator Beall timed the introduction of the bill in this session of Congress so that it could bear the same number by which the previous bill became known, S. 77.

The C. & O. Canal measure would provide for a park comprising approximately 4,800 acres now federally owned, and about 11,000 additional acres to be acquired. The proposed park would extend from Great Falls to Cumberland.

Includes Parkway

A provision of Senator Beall's bill would establish an access scenic parkway of about 25 miles between Paw Paw, W. Va., and Woodmont.

In introducing the bill yesterday, Senator Beall issued a statement which called attention to the fact that the measure passed the Senate in August of 1957 with very little controversy. Senator Beall said:

"The C. & O. Canal is of great historical importance to this nation. It is intimately connected with our early history, the tire nation. It is intimately connected with the national capital, and with the founding fathers of this nation. Indeed, this canal was the forerunner of all other means for the development of the entire western portion of this country."

"The development of this park will be of inestimable value to the citizens of this nation as has been the development of other lands which have been set aside as national parks—for the enjoyment by all Americans of those scenically beautiful areas so interwoven with the history of this country. While perhaps not unique in this respect, the C. & O. Canal is a most remarkable feat of engineering."

Cites Rec Needs

"There is no doubt that the development of this park will satisfy a great need. There are all too few such areas in the metropolitan eastern United States. Loss of the C. & O. Canal property as a national historical park would mean the abandonment of a truly great opportunity for the federal government to provide recreational space where needed for quiet, peaceful relaxation. This alone would be sufficient reason for enactment of S. 77."

"Aside from my sponsorship of the Senate bill for this purpose, the project receives my wholehearted endorsement. I will continue to work toward the completion of this important park project."

Nurses, Orderly Are Appointed

Three practical nurses for the County Infirmary and County Home and an orderly for Sylvan Retreat were appointed yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, effective January 16.

The new practical nurses, who ranked second, third and fourth, respectively, on the Civil Service test are Jane Ours, 11 Holly Avenue, LaVale; Margaret E. Wade, Mt. Savage; and Etta L. Wilson, 14 Willison Place, this city.

They succeeded Nina M. Brinker and Mary E. Grant, whose leaves have expired, and Matilda L. Fahey, who resigned.

Appointed as the new orderly is Estle S. Brown, 214 Columbia Street, who also was on the eligible list for his job. He succeeds John Moravia, who did not return to work after his suspension was ended. All will be on six-month probation before their appointments can become permanent.

South End Firemen Check Brush Fires

South End firemen yesterday extinguished two brush fires.

Yesterday morning at 10:38 they were called to the rear of the 400 block of Ridgewood Avenue where they quenched a brush fire.

About 12:43 p. m. they were called to the vicinity of Thomas Street where they extinguished a brush fire near the B&O tracks.
